

Week 1

PART 1: WHAT IS CIVICS?

Basic Idea:

Think of Civics as the “user manual” for living in a society. Just like you need rules to play a game fairly, societies need rules so people can live together peacefully.

- Why does it exist?

Humans can't live alone. We need food, shelter, safety, friends, jobs—all of which require cooperation. But when people live together, conflicts can happen (like fighting over resources). Civics teaches us how to balance individual wants with society's needs.

Example:

You want to play loud music at night (individual freedom), but your neighbor needs sleep (society's need for peace). Civics teaches us laws and courtesies so both can coexist.

Definition:

The word comes from Latin:

- Civis = Citizen
- Civitas = City/State

So, Civics = Study of citizens and their relationship with the state.

PART 2: SCOPE OF CIVICS — WHAT DOES IT COVER?

Imagine Civics as a big umbrella covering everything about how society works:

Area	What it Studies	Real-Life Example
Political	Government, voting, laws, rights	How elections work, why we pay taxes
Social	Family, schools, communities, social norms	Why we respect elders, how communities help each other
Economic	Jobs, money, trade, poverty	Why prices go up, how to get a job, what is a budget
Historical	Past events that shaped today's society	How Pakistan was formed, why we have a Constitution
Geographical	Local & global issues	How floods affect Pakistan, how trade happens between countries
International	UN, global peace, foreign policy	Why Pakistan has relations with China, what is the UN's role

PART 3: WHY IS CIVICS IMPORTANT? (7 KEY REASONS)

1. Teaches Rights & Duties

- You have a right to education.
- You have a duty to not disturb others in class.
→ Civics tells you both.

2. Helps You Vote Wisely

- Teaches how to choose good leaders, not just by face or fame.

3. Makes You a Global Citizen

- You understand world issues (like climate change, wars) and how they affect you.

4. Explains the Economy

- Why some people are poor? Why are taxes taken? Civics explains this.

5. Develops Good Habits

- Like honesty, cleanliness, helping others.

6. Promotes Social Welfare

- Why we should help the poor, keep streets clean, plant trees.

7. Ensures Democracy Works

- Democracy fails if people are ignorant. Civics educates them.

PART 4: CITIZENSHIP — WHO IS A CITIZEN?

Simple Definition:

A citizen is a legal member of a country with rights and duties.

Three Types of People in a Country:

Type	Rights	Example
Citizen	Full rights (vote, own land, get a passport) + Duties (pay taxes, obey laws)	You, if you have a Pakistani CNIC
National	Lives there but may not have full political rights (like voting)	A child below 18, or in some countries, women in the past
Alien/Foreigner	Lives there temporarily with limited rights (usually no vote)	A Chinese engineer working in Pakistan on a work visa

The 4 Dimensions (LEGS) of Citizenship (Like a Chair):

1. POLITICAL LEG - The "Rule-Making" Leg

- Rights: Vote, run for office, free speech
- Duties: Obey laws, pay taxes
- Example: Voting in elections → choosing who makes rules

2. SOCIAL LEG - The "Getting Along" Leg

- Rights: Safety, dignity, community support
- Duties: Respect others, help neighbors
- Example: Helping elderly neighbor with groceries

3. CULTURAL LEG - The "Identity" Leg

- Rights: Practice religion, speak language
- Duties: Preserve heritage, respect diversity
- Example: Celebrating Eid while respecting Christian neighbors' Christmas

4. ECONOMIC LEG - The "Money Matters" Leg

- Rights: Work, fair wage, property ownership
- Duties: Pay taxes, spend responsibly
- Example: Paying sales tax when shopping → funds schools

PART 5: GOOD CITIZEN — 3 QUALITIES (EASY TO REMEMBER)

Think of a Good Citizen = WSB

1. Wisdom (W) → Understands national issues, votes wisely
2. Self-Discipline (S) → Follows rules even when no one is watching
3. Broadmindedness (B) → Respects others' opinions, not selfish

Example of a Bad Citizen:

- Throws trash on street (no self-discipline)
- Votes for a criminal because he's from same tribe (no wisdom)
- Hates people of other religions (not broadminded)

PART 6: HINDRANCES TO GOOD CITIZENSHIP — WHY PEOPLE FAIL

Problem	What it Means	Example
Moral Deterioration	Society becomes corrupt, dishonest	Taking bribes, lying in business
Ignorance	Not knowing rights/duties	Not voting because "my vote won't matter"
Passiveness	Not caring about national issues	Not reporting a crime you saw
Poverty	Too poor to think beyond survival	A hungry person can't think about voting
Selfishness	"Me first" attitude	Not paying taxes to save money
Political Biases	Blind loyalty to a party/leader	Supporting a corrupt leader from your own group

The 6 "Citizenship Killers":

1. MORAL DETERIORATION - The "What's in it for me?" Disease

text

 Copy

 Download

Before: "I won't take bribe - it's wrong"
After: "Everyone takes bribes, why shouldn't I?"
Result: Corruption becomes normal

2. IGNORANCE - The "I don't know, don't care" Problem

- Statistics show: Only 30% of voters research candidates
- Consequence: Bad leaders get elected
- Example: Voting for a candidate because he has a catchy slogan

3. PASSIVENESS - The "Someone else will fix it" Attitude

text

 Copy

 Download

See corruption → "Not my problem"
See trash → "Cleaner will come"
See crime → "Police will handle"
Result: Society decays

4. POVERTY - The "Survival First" Trap

text

 Copy

 Download

Daily struggle: Food? Shelter? Medicine?
No time/energy for: Voting? Community work?
Result: Poor become disconnected from citizenship

5. SELFISHNESS - The "Me First" Virus

- Manifests as: Tax evasion, resource hoarding, nepotism
- Example: Using political connection to get child into good school while others suffer

6. POLITICAL BIAS - The "My Party Right or Wrong" Blindness

text

 Copy

 Download

Party A does wrong → "But Party B is worse!"
Critical thinking replaced by blind loyalty
Result: Corruption continues

PART 7: HOW TO GET CITIZENSHIP — 2 MAIN WAYS

A. By Birth — Two Rules:

1. Jus Sanguinis (Blood Rule)

- Citizenship by parents' blood.
- Example: Your parents are Pakistani → You are Pakistani, even if born in Dubai.

2. Jus Soli (Soil Rule)

- Citizenship by birthplace.
- Example: Born in USA → You are American, even if parents are tourists.

Dual Citizenship:

- If both rules apply → You can have two citizenships.
- Example: Child of Pakistani parents born in USA → Has both.

B. By Naturalization (Applying for it):

Method	How it Works	Example
Long Stay	Live in a country for years (5-10)	Live in UK for 5 years → apply for citizenship
Marriage	Marry a citizen	Pakistani man marries American woman → she can get Pakistani citizenship
Adoption	Adopt a child from another country	Adopted child gets parents' citizenship
Investment	Invest money/buy property	Some countries give citizenship if you invest $500,000
Government Job	Work for a foreign govt (with permission)	Work in UAE government → may get citizenship

PART 8: HOW CITIZENSHIP CAN BE LOST

Reason	Example
Getting another citizenship	Pakistani gets Canadian citizenship → may lose Pakistani
Long absence without reason	Live abroad 10+ years without contact
Marriage to foreigner	Pakistani woman marries Indian → may lose Pakistani citizenship
Serious crime (treason, murder)	Spying for another country
Fleeing military service	Running away from army duty
Working for foreign military	Joining Indian Army without permission

Week 3

The State and Its Elements

Definition of the State

The State is a political community that has:

1. A permanent population
2. A defined territory
3. An organized government
4. Sovereignty (supreme power to govern itself, free from external control)

This means a State is a sovereign entity that exercises authority over a specific territory and people through its government.

1. What is a State?

Think of a State as the ultimate organized group in a specific area that makes and enforces rules for everyone living there.

Simple Definitions:

- Woodrow Wilson: A group of people living in a specific area, organized under laws.
Example: France, Japan, Kenya.
- Garner: A community in a fixed territory, with its own government, and no outside power controls it.
Example: Brazil is a state. A colony (like historic India under Britain) was not a state because it was externally controlled.

Key Takeaway: A state is the main political unit we live in.

2. The FOUR Essential Elements of a State (Remember This!)

A state MUST have all four. If one is missing, it's not a state.

Element	What It Means	Simple Example
1. Population	The people who live there.	No people = no state. Example: An uninhabited island is not a state.
2. Territory	The land it controls (includes land, water, airspace).	Has clear borders. Example: Pakistan's territory includes its land, coastal waters, and air above it.
3. Government	The organization that makes & enforces rules.	The "management" or "system" running things. Example: The Prime Minister, Parliament, police, and courts together form the government.
4. Sovereignty	(Most Important) Supreme power. It means: a) Internally: Final authority inside its territory. b) Externally: Independent from other countries.	a) Example: Only the Pakistani government can tax people in Pakistan. b) Example: Pakistan makes its own foreign policy; another country can't order it around.

3. STATE vs. GOVERNMENT

State	Government
Whole country (people + land + sovereignty).	Just one part of the state.
Permanent (Pakistan remains even if govt changes).	Temporary (changes after elections).
Abstract (idea of the country).	Concrete (visible officials, buildings).
Has original power (sovereignty).	Has derived power (from constitution/state).
Analogy: State = Restaurant Government = Current manager/staff

Analogy:

State = Restaurant

Government = Current manager/staff

4. STATE vs. SOCIETY

Aspect	State	Society
Purpose	Legal & political only (law & order).	Many purposes: religious, economic, cultural, recreational, etc.
Organization	One legal organization.	Many organizations (families, clubs, schools, NGOs).
Method	Uses force/law (compulsory).	Uses voluntary action/persuasion .
Example	Paying taxes (mandatory).	Donating to a charity (voluntary).

Simple takeaway:

Society is the big picture of human life. The State is just the political part of it.

- Society is broader. It includes all relationships: families, schools, clubs, religious groups, businesses.
- The State is just the political/legal part of society.
- State's Method: Uses force/law (you must pay taxes).
- Society's Method: Uses voluntary action/persuasion (you choose which charity to donate to).
- Simple takeaway:
Society is the big picture of human life. The State is just the political part of it.

5. STATE vs. NATION

Term	Meaning
Nation	Group of people with common identity (language, history, culture, feeling of "oneness").
State	Political & legal entity with 4 elements (population, territory, government, sovereignty).

- Nation without a state: Kurds, Palestinians.
- State with many nations: India (multiple languages/religions).
- Nation-state: Japan (mostly one nation in one state).
- Nation: A group of people with a shared identity (history, culture, language, feeling of "us"). Example: The Kurdish nation is spread across several states (Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Syria).

- State: A political & legal entity with the four elements.
- A Nation-State is when one nation has its own state. Example: Japan, where the Japanese nation largely coincides with the state of Japan.
- Nation without a state: Kurds, Palestinians.
- State with many nations: India (multiple languages/religions).
- Nation-state: Japan (mostly one nation in one state).

6. THREE BRANCHES OF GOVERNMENT

1. EXECUTIVE

- Role: Enforces laws.
- Types:
 - Real Executive → Has real power (Prime Minister).
 - Nominal Executive → Ceremonial (President in some countries).
- Functions:
 1. Enforce laws
 2. Maintain peace & order
 3. Defend country
 4. Manage foreign relations
 5. Appoint officials
 6. Manage money (budget)
 7. Convene legislature
 8. Issue ordinances
 9. Implement welfare projects
 10. Power to pardon

2. LEGISLATURE

- Role: Makes laws.
- Example: British Parliament = "Mother of parliaments."
- Functions:
 - Make laws
 - Pass budget
 - Oversee executive
 - Discuss national issues (development, policy, international relations)
 - Hear public grievances

3. JUDICIARY

- Role: Interprets laws, administers justice.
- Quote: "We are under a constitution, but the constitution is what the judges say it is." — Shows its power.
- Functions:
 - Administer justice
 - Interpret constitution & laws
 - Give advisory opinions
 - Protect rights (issue orders/writs)
 - Guard the constitution

Mnemonic for branches:

Executive → Enforces

Legislature → Laws

Judiciary → Judges

Branch	Main Job	Simple Function	Real-World Example (Functions)
1. Executive	To Enforce/Execute Laws	The "Doer" or "Administrator".	President, Prime Minister, Police, Army. Their jobs: Maintain order, run day-to-day affairs, defend the country, implement projects.
2. Legislature	To Make Laws	The "Lawmaker" or "Debater".	Parliament, National Assembly, Senate. Their jobs: Create new laws, pass the national budget, discuss public issues, oversee the executive.
3. Judiciary	To Interpret Laws & Deliver Justice	The "Judge" or "Referee".	Supreme Court, High Courts, Judges. Their jobs: Settle disputes, punish law-breakers, protect the constitution, guard citizen rights.

Quote to remember: "We are under a constitution, but the constitution is what the judges say it is." — This shows the Judiciary's power to interpret the law.

Week 4

WHAT IS CIVIL SOCIETY?

A. Simple Definition

Civil society is the voluntary collective action of citizens outside of government, business, and family life. It's where people come together freely to pursue common interests, protect rights, and hold power accountable.

B. Three Main Parts

1. Institutions – Big important systems like:

- Democracy (the system of voting and choosing leaders)
- Rule of Law (the idea that everyone follows the same rules)
- Media (newspapers, TV channels)
- Citizenship (your rights as a citizen)

2. Organizations – Actual groups you can join:

- NGOs (like Edhi Foundation)
- Student Unions
- Lawyer Associations
- Human Rights Groups
- Trade Unions

3. Individuals – Regular people like you and me when we:

- Join a protest
- Volunteer
- Write about problems
- Vote wisely

C. What Civil Society Is NOT

- ✗ Not the government (na sarkar)
- ✗ Not the military (na fauj)
- ✗ Not for-profit businesses (na corporations)
- ✗ Not family or private life

D. Three Key Features

- 1. Works under Rule of Law: Operates legally and peacefully.
- 2. Exists Between State & Market: Serves as a balancing force.

3. Voluntary: People join by choice, not force.

THE 9 CHARACTERISTICS OF A STRONG CIVIL SOCIETY:

These are signs that civil society is healthy and democracy can thrive.

No.	Characteristic	What It Means	Pakistani Example
1	Commons	Shared public resources managed collectively	Citizens protecting Islamabad's Green Belt, Karachi's coastline
2	Office	Ordinary citizens can hold leadership roles	Lady Health Workers leading community efforts, local NGO heads
3	Associations	Freedom to form and join groups	Lawyers' associations, student unions (before bans), trade unions
4	Trusteeship	Responsible management of public resources	Transparency International Pakistan exposing corruption in funds
5	Sovereignty	Real power remains with the people, not elites	Lawyers' Movement (2007-08) demanding power return to the people
6	Accountability	Leaders must answer for their actions	Media exposing Panama Papers; public protests against corruption
7	Equity	Fair access to resources and opportunities	Women's rights groups fighting for equal education and healthcare
8	Justice	Rule of law applies equally to all	Lawyers' Movement restoring deposed judges; HRCP documenting police abuse
9	Reciprocity	Conflicts resolved through dialogue, not violence	Peace committees in tribal areas; interfaith dialogue groups

Let's Connect Each of the 9 Signs with REAL Pakistani Civil Society

1. The Commons → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Protecting what belongs to ALL Pakistanis

Pakistani Civil Society Actions:

- Lawyers fighting to save Islamabad's Green Belt from illegal construction
- Environmental activists protesting to save Karachi's coastline
- Local communities protecting village forests in KP and Gilgit-Baltistan
- Urban citizens fighting to save Lahore's historical buildings

This IS civil society because: Regular people (not government) are protecting Pakistan's shared heritage and environment.

2. Office → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Normal people becoming community leaders

Pakistani Civil Society Actions:

- Lady Health Workers becoming community leaders in villages
- Local NGO heads (like Edhi, Abdul Sattar Edhi was a civil society leader, not politician)
- Union council members elected from ordinary backgrounds
- School teachers leading parent-teacher associations

This IS civil society because: These are not powerful politicians but ordinary citizens taking leadership roles in their communities.

3. Associations → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: People forming groups voluntarily

Real Pakistani Groups:

- Lawyers' Associations (like Pakistan Bar Council)
- Student Unions (before they were banned)
- Trade Unions (like Pakistan Workers' Federation)
- Women's groups (like Aurat March organizers)
- Farmer associations (like Kissan Ittehad)
- Relief organizations (like Edhi Foundation, Al-Khidmat)

This IS civil society because: These are voluntary groups where people join because they want to, not because they're paid or forced.

4. Trusteeship → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Managing Pakistan's resources responsibly

Pakistani Civil Society Actions:

- Transparency International Pakistan exposing corruption in public funds
- Human rights groups protecting citizens from police brutality
- Flood relief organizations fairly distributing aid (not based on politics)
- Educational NGOs ensuring poor children get quality education

This IS civil society because: These groups act as "trustees" of Pakistan's resources, making sure they're used properly for ALL Pakistanis, not just the rich.

5. Sovereignty → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Keeping real power with the people

Pakistani Civil Society Fighting For This:

- The ENTIRE Lawyers' Movement (2007-2008) was about sovereignty
- Problem: Musharraf (one man) had all power

- Civil Society Action: Lawyers said "NO! Power belongs to constitution and people"
- Result: Through protests, they restored people's sovereignty

Other Examples:

- Election observer groups ensuring votes aren't stolen
- Media exposing when powerful people try to control institutions
- Protests against "selected" governments

This IS civil society because: These groups remind everyone that Pakistan belongs to its people, not to generals or powerful families.

6. Accountability → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Making leaders answer for their actions

Pakistani Civil Society Tools:

- Media investigations (like Panama Papers coverage)
- Public Interest Litigation (lawyers suing government in courts)
- Protests and dharnas demanding answers
- Social media campaigns exposing wrongdoings

Real Cases:

- When lawyers filed cases against corrupt politicians
- When journalists exposed the Model Town incident
- When citizen groups demanded answers about missing persons

This IS civil society because: These are non-government forces holding the government accountable.

7. Equity → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Fighting for fair treatment of ALL Pakistanis

Pakistani Civil Society Working For:

- Women's rights groups fighting for equal education
- Minority rights organizations protecting religious minorities
- Disability rights activists demanding accessibility
- Rural development NGOs bringing facilities to villages

Specific Issues:

- Fighting against "sifarish" culture (where connections matter more than merit)
- Demanding equal healthcare in villages and cities
- Fighting discrimination against Baloch, Sindhi, Pashtun people

This IS civil society because: These groups fight for Pakistanis who are treated unfairly by the system.

8. Justice → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Ensuring rule of law for everyone

The BIGGEST Pakistani Example:

THE LAWYERS' MOVEMENT (2007-2008)

- What happened: Musharraf fired Chief Justice
- Why this was injustice: One man (Musharraf) broke the law
- Civil Society response: Lawyers across Pakistan protested
- Their demand: Restore judges, restore rule of law
- Result: They won! Judges were restored

Other Examples:

- Human Rights Commission of Pakistan documenting police torture cases
- Legal aid organizations helping poor prisoners
- Anti-honor killing activists fighting for justice for victims

This IS civil society because: These groups use peaceful, legal methods to fight for justice when the system fails.

9. Reciprocity → Pakistani Civil Society Example

What it means: Solving conflicts through dialogue

Pakistani Civil Society Actions:

- Peace committees in tribal areas resolving disputes
- Interfaith dialogue groups bringing Muslims, Christians, Hindus together
- Community mediation during sectarian tensions
- Protest negotiations (like lawyers negotiating with government)

Important Point from Paper: In Pakistan, reciprocity is HARD because:

- Some groups exclude others (religious, ethnic discrimination)
- Conflicts often turn violent

Civil society tries to: Create bridges between different Pakistani communities

WHAT IS DEMOCRACY?

A. Basic Meaning

- From Greek: Demos (people) + Kratos (power) = People's power.

- A system where citizens choose their leaders through free and fair elections and enjoy guaranteed rights.

B. Famous Definitions

- Abraham Lincoln: “Government of the people, by the people, for the people.”
- Winston Churchill: “The worst form of government, except for all the others.”

C. 5 Essential Elements of Modern Democracy

1. Basic Human Rights for every individual.
2. Separation of Powers among legislature, executive, and judiciary.
3. Freedoms of speech, press, religion, and assembly.
4. Free & Fair Elections with “one person, one vote.”
5. Good Governance focused on public interest, not corruption.

CIVIL SOCIETY’S ROLE IN PAKISTAN’S DEMOCRACY – HISTORICAL EXAMPLES

A. Early Years (1947–1958)

- Civil society pressured leaders to adopt Objectives Resolution (1949) and first constitution (1956).
- Newspapers, lawyers, and intellectuals advocated for democratic foundations.

B. Ayub Khan Era (1958–1969)

- Student unions and public protests against dictatorship and rising prices (e.g., sugar price protests).
- Sustained public pressure contributed to Ayub Khan’s resignation in 1969.

C. Z.A. Bhutto Era (1970s)

- Civil society mobilized mass support for Bhutto’s democratic platform.
- Huge crowds at rallies showed how civil society can amplify a leader’s democratic message.

D. Zia-ul-Haq Era (1977–1988)

- Political parties, journalists, and activists formed MRD (Movement for Restoration of Democracy).
- Kept democratic resistance alive through protests, publications, and advocacy.

E. Musharraf Era & The Lawyers’ Movement (1999–2008) – MAJOR CASE STUDY

- Trigger: Musharraf’s unconstitutional removal of Chief Justice Iftikhar Chaudhry in 2007.
- Civil Society Response:

- Lawyers across Pakistan boycotted courts, held protests, and organized Long Marches.
- Media provided extensive coverage.
- Some political parties and citizens joined in.
- Outcome:
 - Judges were restored.
 - Musharraf's legitimacy eroded, leading to his resignation in 2008.
 - Proved peaceful civil society action could challenge military rule.

CHALLENGES FACING CIVIL SOCIETY IN PAKISTAN TODAY

A. Fragmentation

- Past: Broad coalitions (students, workers, lawyers) united against dictators.
- Present: Mostly lawyer-led; student unions weakened; workers' movements less active.

B. Weak Political Party Support

- Major parties (PPP, PML-N) often prioritize power over democratic principles.
- During the Lawyers' Movement, PPP did not offer full support, showing a gap between civil society and political parties.

C. Elite Dominance

- Civil society sometimes focuses on elite issues (e.g., judicial restoration) while neglecting everyday problems of the poor (electricity, water, jobs).
- Grassroots movements in rural and marginalized areas lack resources and visibility.

D. Military-Civilian Power Dynamics

- History of military interventions weakens democratic continuity.
- Civil society often has to choose between confrontation and compromise with powerful military establishment.

E. Public Apathy & Distrust

- Many Pakistanis feel individual action doesn't matter.
- Corruption and broken promises lead to cynicism about both government and civil society.

CIVIL SOCIETY VS. POLITICAL PARTIES IN PAKISTAN:

Aspect	Civil Society	Political Parties
Main Goal	Promote public good, protect rights	Gain and exercise political power
Methods	Advocacy, protests, awareness campaigns	Elections, legislation, governance
Structure	Often loose, network-based	Formal hierarchy, organizational
Accountability	To members and public conscience	To party leadership and voters
In Pakistan	Growing but fragmented	Often elite-controlled, weak internal democracy

CONCLUSION – KEY TAKEAWAYS

1. Civil society is essential for democracy—it watches, criticizes, and mobilizes.
2. In Pakistan, civil society has:
 - Fought for constitutional rule.
 - Resisted dictators (Ayub, Zia, Musharraf).
 - Secured major victories like the restoration of judiciary in 2008.
3. The Lawyers’ Movement is the strongest example of civil society’s power.
4. Challenges remain: civil society needs to be more inclusive, better organized, and connected to ordinary people’s daily struggles.
5. Democracy in Pakistan remains a work in progress, with civil society as one of its most important drivers.

Week 5

PART 1: CONSTITUTION BASICS

What is a Constitution?

- The highest law of a country.
- Cannot be changed easily (needs special majority like 2/3 vote).
- Binds everyone – even the government must follow it.
- Contains:
 - Structure of government
 - Citizens' rights
 - National values
- Features:
 - Binds everyone, including the government.
 - Sets up government structure & citizens' rights.
 - Hard to change (needs special majority/referendum).
 - Must respect democracy & human rights.

Example: In Pakistan, the 1973 Constitution is the supreme law.

Why Do We Need a Constitution? (Functions)

- 1. Defines who belongs to the country (citizenship rules).
 - 2. Sets up government institutions (Parliament, Courts).
 - 3. Expresses national identity & values (Islamic provisions in Pakistan).
 - 4. Lists citizens' rights & duties (Articles 8–40 in Pakistan).
 - 5. Divides power (Federal vs. Provincial governments).

PART 2: RIGHTS

What Are Rights?

- Valid claims recognized by society & law.
 - Given by the state for personal & social growth.
 - Example: Right to education → You can claim it, state must provide.

3 Types of Rights:

1. Human Rights

- Why? Because you are human (from birth).
- No law needed to recognize them – they exist naturally.
- Universal – same for everyone worldwide.
- Examples: Right to life, no torture, freedom of thought.
- International Documents: UDHR, ICCPR, ICESCR, CEDAW.

Simple Example: Even if a country doesn't have a law against torture, it's still a human right violation.

2. Fundamental Rights

- Given by: The Constitution of a country.
- Protected by courts – even against government violations.
- Only for citizens of that country.
- Example in Pakistan: Right to fair trial (Article 10A), Equality (Article 25).

Important: If violated → You can go directly to High Court/Supreme Court (Writ Petition).

3. Legal Rights

- Given by: Ordinary laws (passed by Parliament).
- Enforced through normal courts (civil/criminal cases).
- Territorial – only apply within the country.
- Examples: Right to property by inheritance, Right to sue for breach of contract.

Difference: Legal vs. Moral Rights

Aspect	Legal Rights	Moral Rights
Source	Law (written)	Ethics/conscience (unwritten)
Clarity	Clear, written in law	Vague, based on societal beliefs
Enforcement	Courts, police	Social pressure, guilt
Violation	Legal punishment (fine/jail)	Moral condemnation (people dislike you)
Example	Right to vote (by law)	Right to be respected (moral expectation)

PART 3: PAKISTAN'S FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS (1973 CONSTITUTION)

Remember: Articles 8–40 in Part II: Fundamental Rights

Key Rights (Simplified):

Article	Right	What It Means
8	Supremacy of Rights	Any law against fundamental rights is void.
9	Security of Person	No one can harm/kill you illegally.
10	Safeguards on Arrest	If arrested, you must: 1. Be told why 2. Get a lawyer 3. Be presented before a magistrate in 24 hours
10A	Right to Fair Trial	Fair, impartial court hearing.
11	No Slavery/Forced Labour	No one can force you to work.
12	No Retrospective Punishment	Cannot be punished for an act that wasn't a crime when done.
13	No Double Punishment	Cannot be tried twice for same crime.
14	Dignity & Privacy	No torture, no degrading treatment, privacy respected.
15	Freedom of Movement	Can move freely within Pakistan.
16	Freedom of Assembly	Can hold peaceful protests/rallies.
17	Freedom of Association	Can form political parties, unions, clubs.
18	Freedom of Trade/Business	Can start any lawful business.
19	Freedom of Speech	Can express opinions (with reasonable limits).
19A	Right to Information	Can ask government for information.
20	Freedom of Religion	Can practice, preach, manage religious places.
21	No Tax for Religion	Cannot be taxed to fund a particular religion.
22	Religious Safeguards in Education	No forced religious education.
23-24	Property Rights	Can own, buy, sell property.
25	Equality Before Law	No discrimination based on race, religion, gender, etc.
25A	Right to Education	Free education for children 5-16 years.
26	No Discrimination in Public Places	Equal access to parks, restaurants, etc.
27	No Discrimination in Government Jobs	Equal opportunity in employment.
28	Preserve Language/Culture	Can promote your language/culture.

Articles 29–40: Principles of Policy – Guidelines for government (not enforceable in court directly).

PART 4: DUTIES & CIVIC RESPONSIBILITIES

What Are Duties?

Obligations you must fulfill as a citizen.

Key Duties:

- 1. Obey Laws – Follow traffic rules, respect property, etc.
- 2. Pay Taxes – For schools, hospitals, roads.
- 3. Vote – Choose representatives in elections.
- 4. Jury Duty – If called to court as juror.
- 5. Stay Informed – Know about national issues.
- 6. Respect Others' Rights – Your freedom ends where others' rights begin.
- 7. Protect Environment – Don't litter, save water/electricity.
- 8. Volunteer – Help in community service.
- 9. Defend Country – If needed (national service).

Example: You have right to free speech (Article 19) → Duty: Don't use it to spread hate or violence.

PART 5: ETHICAL CIVIC ENGAGEMENT

What is It?

How to participate in society morally & responsibly.

Key Principles:

- 1. Respect Everyone – Listen to different opinions.
- 2. Be Honest & Transparent – No lies or hidden motives.
- 3. Prioritize Community – Think "we" not just "me".
- 4. Do No Harm – Don't harm others while advocating for your cause.
- 5. Ensure Justice & Fairness – Fight for equal treatment for all.
- 6. Inclusive Participation – Include minorities, women, disabled in discussions.

Example: Organizing a protest for better roads → Do it peacefully, don't block hospitals, respect police.
